“MY PROMISE TO YOU”

Welcome. It is a difficult time when facing charges in criminal court to find a lawyer that will best defend you in your case. Since 1982 I have been devoted to providing that best defense to thousands of clients in criminal cases. It is my mission statement and promise to you that I will gather and review all evidence in your case, give you an honest case analysis, and recommend the best defense strategy that I will vigorously undertake.

First and foremost, you are central to all strategic decisions in your defense. I will diligently gather all discoverable evidence and evaluate that evidence by finding the strengths and weaknesses in your case and to formulate defense issues and strategies. I will accordingly advise you and recommend procedural direction. It is YOU, however, with my professional guidance, who will ultimately decide the direction to take in your own case.

It is most rewarding to both my clients and to me when all charges are dismissed in our cases. A finding of "not guilty" after trial or a suppression of necessary prosecution evidence following a hearing on a well-crafted motion is a dramatic and impressive result in any case. Even more impressive may be for me to convince the prosecution to dismiss all charges voluntarily, on the prosecution's own motion. I like to win, and a dismissal of all charges is the best win of all.

Not all charges in all cases can get dismissed, however, and not all clients want to risk the uncertainty of trial where a negotiated settlement may yield a better result. It is my extraordinary ability and experience that allows me to extract from every case the defense's strengths and prosecutor's weaknesses. My skillful pre-trial negotiations will always lead to successful plea-agreements in otherwise unwinnable cases and to procedural agreements and stipulations that provide a strategic defense advantage should your case go to trial. A special concern is to conclude cases so as to allow later expungement of your arrest record, a procedure that is routine to my practice.

It is my promise to you that I will apply all of my ability and experience to win your case. Your satisfaction with my representation of you is paramount. It has been my case preparation and success that formed the opinions of judges and colleagues to earn me the highest "AV Peer Review Rating" bestowed by Martindale-Hubbell to lawyers. I have held the honor proudly, and it is my promise to you that you will not be disappointed with my service.

Thank you for your confidence,

Warren J. Breslin
